PREDICTED IF ROAD
BONDS ARE VOTED*Enabling Legislation to Anticipate Decision Im-possible.*TENDER TO CALL SOLONS BACK*Lots of Bills Before the Legislature Which Interest Sportsmen, from a Change in Game Laws to Fishing for Those Who Visit a Gambling House.

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, April 14.—If the voters of Pennsylvania ratify the Constitutional amendment for the $30,000,000 bond issue for the improvement of the highways of the State, there probably will be an extra or special session of the Legislature next winter. The resolution of Senator Spruill, which passed the last Legislature and which is on the third reading and final passage calendar in the House for tonight, proposing this bond issue, will undoubtedly pass finally, since it secured 165 votes on second reading. A report will be made tonight by Attorney General Bell under a resolution as to whether enabling legislation for the appropriation of the money can be enacted at this session. It is expected that Bell will report that no enabling legislation is provided for the issuance of road bonds can be enacted before the proposed amendment is ratified by the voters.

If you are a baseball player or fan, if you are a devotee of boxing, if you like pool or billiards, or motor boating, or if you prefer to shoulder a gun and tramp abroad to shoot the nervously active quail or the plump partridge or even the soft-eyed deer or if you'd rather walk out of the house with a fishing pole and some hooks stuck in a piece of cork and a bucket of lunch and game bait—you are interested in the present session of the Legislature. The hunters and fishermen have so much proposed legislation affecting them each season that both the Senate and House have committees on fish and game to which all bills pertaining to and touching on fish and game are referred. The present session will be the first since the Legislature has so much proposed legislation affecting them each season that both the Senate and House have committees on fish and game to which all bills pertaining to and touching on fish and game are referred. The present session will be the first since the Legislature has so much proposed legislation affecting them each season that both the Senate and House have committees on fish and game to which all bills pertaining to and touching on fish and game are referred.

Senator Buckman of Bucks has a bill in which attempts to regulate the catching, taking, and sale of bullfrogs, tadpoles, terrapin and snapping turtles. Under the terms of the bill you can't catch bullfrogs with a light at night and you can't take more than 25 tadpoles in any one day, nor can you catch, take or kill bullfrogs excepting from July 1 to October 1. Senator Buckman, however, would permit you to catch, keep and pickered frogs at any time. Senator Buckman has also introduced a bill which prohibits any unincorporated foreign-born rate collector from collecting rates from a passenger on a train. Devotees of boxing will be interested in the Perry bill which provides for a commission to regulate boxing exhibitions. The bill provides for a commission of five members to be appointed by the Governor to supervise all exhibitions. It increases the number of rounds permitted from six to ten.

Efforts to provide Sunday baseball for Pennsylvania, have thus far failed. Several bills have been presented which provide for the regulation of baseball and billiard tables and bowling boards. Then there is a bill which prevents anyone from visiting a gambling house. This measure declares that a fine of $100 awaits any one who is found visiting any such place. A bill requiring that motor boats shall be marked so that the exact shall not be lost, and the name of any citizen of Pennsylvania has passed in the Senate and is now in committee in the House.

The Legislature probably will be asked in a resolution to be presented within the next ten days to provide for the continuance of the commission to codify the State corporation and taxation laws. The Judiciary special committee of the House has rewritten the Hesse building bill providing for the election of judges. It now provides that all such persons shall be elected in the new Western Penitentiary in Center county.

William Finn, the Bull Moose boss, will arrive here this afternoon and immediately call on the Governor for a legislative executive committee of the Republican State Convention. All pending legislation will be given over to the committee and the advisability of recalling the State convention considered.

Is Hurt in Mines.
Louis Cora, employed in the mines of the Somerset Coal Company at McConnellsburg, was caught by a fall of slate Saturday, suffering injuries of the back. He was brought to Connelville and removed to the Cottage State Hospital for treatment.

A special train of six cars carrying immigrants from New York to western points passed through Connelville this morning.

POPE RALLIES, THEN HAS A RELAPSE; FEAR END IS NEAR*High Hierarchy of Church Expresses Doubt Pontiff Will Not Live Out the Day.

United Press Telegram.
ROME, April 14.—At 6 o'clock this evening Pope Pius' temperature had mounted to an alarming height and fears are entertained that he will not survive the day. It was reported late this afternoon that his temperature was 102, and the mounting fever, with the sharp drop in the weather temperature, has alarmed the papal physicians. They fear that the raw weather may provoke a fatal coughing fit.

In the Vatican guards have been doubled about the sick chamber, and members of the Swiss Guard made a thorough search of the buildings, sending away every person who could not give good reasons for their presence. Professor Marchisiani is preparing to spend the night at the Pope's side. Before entering the sickroom he stated that his patient's condition was improving, but this statement is given little credence.

A high church dignitary, as he was leaving the Vatican, asserted that those within the Vatican fear for the Pope's safety. He declared that they do not expect him to live through the day.

The monk who has been in the Vatican for the last 48 hours and who is believed to have heard the Pope's confession, left this afternoon. His place by the bedside will be taken by Cardinal Vannutelli, who will administer the last sacrament and give absolution.

After a visit to the sickroom this afternoon, the Pope's sisters returned to their little home where they are regaining work on his behalf. The Sisters are now working and they are making a shroud of lace, with their own hands.

MORGAN IS BURIEDBusiness is United During Services for the Financier.

NEW YORK, April 14.—With the stock exchange closed, police guarding the streets about the home and many leaders in the financial world in attendance, New York, passed today while the funeral of John Pierpont Morgan was held.

The funeral procession left the Morgan mansion on Madison avenue shortly before 10 o'clock, the body of the dead financier being conveyed in a plain horse-drawn vehicle to Grace's Episcopal Church, where services were conducted. Members of the family, relatives and intimate friends followed the hearse in order of precedence, such as was used by a family of modern means.

With his mother leaving on his arm, J. P. Morgan, Jr., was the first to leave the home. He was followed by his wife, Mrs. Morgan, and then by his children, Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, Jr.

HIM IN COURTROOM*Ethel Fisher Appears When the Heister Trial is Started Today.*SUPERINTENDENT IS CONFIDENT*Smiles With Counsel and Appears to be Confident of Quick Acquittal; the Conspiracy Defense is Dropped But Other Plans are Closely Guarded.

United Press Telegram.

PITTSBURGH, April 14.—After pleading for weeks for the privilege of facing the girl accused of the Heister trial, Superintendent of Schools Heister, today appeared in court with his counsel, Ethel Fisher, and the conspiracy defense was dropped. Other plans are closely guarded.

Heister, who is on a leave of absence from the city schools until the charges against him are tried, was smiling and confident. His attorneys indicated that they have dropped the conspiracy defense, which they first intended to use during the trial, but refused to make public their plans.

Among the witnesses who will be called to testify when the jury is drawn, are several city detectives who have been investigating the case since the confession of the girl, made several weeks ago when she believed she was near death.

Following the testimony of several city detectives, Ethel Fisher took the stand this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock and began telling the story she reported twice before the coroner's jury and once before the grand jury.

The witness testified that she is 18 years old, and that her first service as a domestic was in the home of the defendant.

MADRID, April 14.—The police today are making scores of arrests following the attempted assassination of King Alfonso yesterday. A dragnet has been placed over the town and all suspicious characters are being placed in custody.

One of the bullets from the would-be assassin's revolver scraped the King's finger, but otherwise he was unharmed. The fact that the attempted assassination was more successful than first reported was kept secret until today.

Rafel Sanchez Alcaraz, the would-be assassin, has been put through a third degree, but he stoutly maintains that no secret society had anything to do with his act. He refuses to give any reason for his attempt to take the life of the king.

A letter addressed to his wife was found on Alcaraz after his arrest. The letter contained the following lines: "You are morally responsible for my act. If you had sent me what I wanted, I would not have done as I did."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 14.—Two Connecticut factories will be lost to this country as a result of the new tariff legislation proposed by the Democrats. Announcement has been made that the Stanley Rule & Tool Company of New Britain and the Great Manufacturing Company of New Haven, makers of sewing machine attachments, will manufacture their goods abroad. Combined they employ 1,100 persons.

The Great company says that with the 45 per cent duty removed, the firm can manufacture its attachments abroad and sell them in this country cheaper than is now possible.

URGE COKE WORKERS TO RAISE PRODUCE;
MARKET IS OFFERED*Union Supply Will Pay Cash for Butter, Eggs and Vegetables.*SUPPLY NOT UP TO THE DEMAND*Big Mercantile Concern of the United States Steel Corporation Would Offer Encouragement for Raising Cattle, Poultry and Eggs.

Coke workers of the Connelville region are being urged to raise poultry and produce by the Union Supply Company. Beginning today the company is launching an advertising campaign. It offers to pay the highest market price, either in cash or trade, for produce, butter and eggs.

Officials of the company state that not one-twentieth of the foodstuffs consumed in the region are raised here. Consequently every reasonable inducement will be offered employees about the coke works to work a garden, or keep chickens and cows.

At all the company houses sufficient ground is provided for either of these purposes. There is room on every lot to raise chickens. The foreign laborers have for the most part taken kindly to efforts on the part of the company to encourage beautifying yards and growing about the houses, and competition for the garden prizes has also been keen.

This, however, has not been deemed sufficient. As a consequence, the Union Supply Company, at each of its 53 stores in Fayette, Westmoreland and Allegheny counties, has become a purchasing agent for eggs, butter, poultry and vegetables.

Those who become producers have the choice of being paid in trade or in cash. It is said that the rule does not apply only to employees of the U. S. Steel Corporation but that so great has become the demand for such articles that the company is able to purchase extensively from the truck gardeners of the region. The company then has not had sufficient to meet the demand.

RAILROADS CRIPPLEDSouthern Lines Still Unable to Handle Much Traffic.

On account of the damage done over a wide extent of country by the recent floods, consumers of iron are experiencing more or less difficulty in securing raw material. Freight has been piling up for a fortnight, and the railroads will not be in smooth working order again for a fortnight.

Two of the roads affected to the greatest extent are the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western. The former is in bad shape. The furnaces along its line at Fronton and Ashland have been isolated by high water. The Norfolk & Western, over which the Norfolk & Western coke is shipped, will not be in shape to operate fully for more than two weeks.

In the south conditions are not as serious. Shipments from Birmingham and Tennessee are moving regularly, and everywhere the waters are rapidly receding. Work of restoration is progressing swiftly.

The Greatest Brass Bed Demonstration and Sale Ever Held in This County.

Entire stock of Guaranteed Not to Tarnish Brass Beds at One-Fourth below the regular retail prices. The only Brass Beds in the world guaranteed against tarnishing. Sale begins Monday, April 14, and Continues During Entire Week.

ORDINARY BRASS BEDS TARNISH

Every woman in Connellsville who owns a brass bed known how soon the old style shellac lacquer comes off, exposing the brass surface which soon tarnishes and blackens, practically ruining the bed. Other stores are full of such beds, but we do not sell them. This store sells only beds backed by a signed Insurance Bond which guarantees that the brass will not tarnish. These beds are made by the Pittsburgh-Hickson Company whose product has sprung into instant popularity with the people because they are unlike all other makes of brass beds, and because there is never any disappointment in the wearing quality of the lacquer finish.

Beware of brass beds claimed to be just as good as Hickson Process Beds. Imitations are never equal to the genuine—the only way you can be sure of getting the genuine is to demand a signed guarantee insurance bond. We give one with every purchase.

HICKSON PROCESS LACQUER PREVENTS TARNISH

The Pittsburgh-Hickson Company is the only maker of brass beds which absolutely protect the public against the tarnish of the brass which ruins the bed. They don't ask you to take their word for it, or the dealer's word, or any salesman's word. They give you evidence signed in black and white which you keep in your own possession. This evidence of their claim is in the form of a Signed Guarantee Insurance Bond which plainly states that the bed is guaranteed for 5 years. They want you to hold them strictly to the guarantee if time should prove their claims unfounded.

This insurance bond is issued by the Southwestern Surety Company, an old and strong company whose bonds are accepted as surety by the United States Government.

The lacquer finish on these beds is not affected by perspiration from the hands, fly specks, ammonia, soap and water, salt air, alcohol, toilet water or moisture of any kind, nor from coal or gas fumes. You can wash them with soap and water and keep them perfectly clean.

When Buying Any Brass Bed, Compel the Dealer to Make the Test Illustrated Below, to Prove to You That the Lacquer Finish Will Not Be Ruined by Ammonia.

MISS EMILY REDMOND

Relative of the famous John Redmond, the Irish Labor Leader, Will Conduct This One Week Demonstration.

She is well versed in the separate processes of manufacture of Lacquer Brass Beds.

A series of tests have been arranged that she may clearly show the advantages of Lacquer Brass Beds over the ordinary shellac beds.

There isn't another person in the world who is more able, more efficient or better qualified to conduct these tests than Miss Redmond.

Let her teach you the care of Brass Beds in the home—no spots too harmful, no acids too strong to penetrate the delicate lustre of these beds.

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 14, 1913.

AN AND OLIVE BLANCH.

With the Pittsburgh scandal as a starter, the Uniontown Herald rambles through two columns of that sacred editorial space seldom used because of its highly explosive character to tell us all about the politics of the country, and incidentally to reaffirm its recent alignment with certain Wilson policies.

With many words and much profanity, The Herald says that the Republican organization is responsible for the election of a Democratic President because its leadership and its membership insisted upon the nomination of Taft instead of Roosevelt. Plain people, unaccustomed to such refinement of reasoning, have been under the impression that the Republican Taft only exercised their rights under the rules of the party, and that the responsibility for Wilson's election properly lies with those Republicans who refused to support the Republican ticket because their personal choice for the head of that ticket had failed of nomination.

Still uncertain whether it is Progressive or Democratic, The Herald concludes by saying that "the successful political leader of the present, or the future, is the man whose coat of arms is embellished with an olive branch instead of an ax." The Herald ought to take some of its own advice. It will never make any progress in its life mission until it changes its coat of arms.

The Republicans at Washington caucus with open doors and the Democrats behind closed doors. According to "The New Freedom," the Republicans are right and the Democrats are wrong; but that's the difference between the Professor and the President.

The Uniontown Herald, never very careful in its statements, says the editor of The Courier devotes his afternoons "to marking his utterances in blue pencil and mailing them to 26 Broadway, the National City Bank, the Arcade Building and the United States Senate." Never in his life has the editor of The Courier sent a marked copy of the paper to the first three addresses mentioned, directed to be done. The Herald is evidently more familiar with the haunts of Predatory Wealth than we are.

The 1913 fashion in gasoline devourers are hard at work disseminating swollen wealth.

The Uniontown Herald says we are trying to start a panic. It has also said the Taft Republicans are responsible for the election of Wilson. It is not worth while discussing these things. It is sufficient to say that the Democrats are in the saddle.

The Wilson bill is the most drastic tariff measure proposed since the War.

The Uniontown Herald wants to know what interest The Courier represents. It represents General Prosperity and Public Welfare. Everybody knows what interest The Herald represents.

The corporation tax of 1912 will net the Federal Government three billions of dollars. This is no longer a billion-dollar government.

The Uniontown Herald is receiving the congratulations of prominent Fayette county Democrats on its Democratic Tariff editorial. In the Republican ranks there is nothing but thick silence. Not even a Duff Moore has belated.

Editorial space is rather limited today. We are compelled to postpone paying our respects to some of the special interests.

Democratic reform at Washington proposes to cut out free shaves and baths for the Senators. The Democrats have been out in the wilderness so many years that they have perhaps become unaccustomed to baths and shaves.

As a direct result of the Underwood bill two New England factories are preparing to move abroad where labor is cheaper.

After all his high-sounding philosophy on the subject of government honestly administered, Professor Wandy Wilson is trying to put the Louisiana Senators on the map by separating the sugar schedule from the general tariff bill in order to prevent a possible combination of the sugar and wool Senators against his bill. The sugar and wool people ought to demand recognition under penalty of revolt, and in event of refusal make combination with the Republicans. This is the only combination that will count.

China is acquiring the Mexican habit of assassinating ambition.

The report that the Duckhannon & Northern will not be completed for two years to come is not reasonable or credible in view of the facts. With only seven miles of track and one bridge to build, there would be no economy in forcing the R. & N. unfinished for so long a period. The line will undoubtedly be finished this summer.

San Francisco is getting ready for the Panama Exposition by cleaning up as well morally as physically.

The greatest celebration the battle fields of Gettysburg ever saw will be held this summer. It will be the 50th anniversary of the three days' bloody struggle which marked the turn of the tide of war and the beginning of the end of the rebellion. Hundreds of the survivors from the North and South will be present, and Conneltsville will be there in force.

Pennsylvania pay-days will come off tenor hereafter.

The Democratic revision and reduction of the tariff will probably affect the farmers and the laborers more seriously than the steel and iron manufacturers. If it does the famous label will be a whisper compared with the mighty uproar that will arise throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Locomotive headlights will by law be required to have searchlight power.

The holding up of a treasure train and the taking of $50,000 in American gold will probably be considered by the Mexican government in the light of an involuntary loan. Under any circumstances, it might be well for the treasury to step up to Captain Sam's office and settle.

Shipping reports indicate that 1913 was a hoodoo year on the sea. The toll of death and destruction by storm and shipwreck exceeds that of any corresponding period in many years.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON

The Famous Prose Poet

Helpful Reading

"SINCE I have nothing else to do," remarked the retired merchant, "I'm trying to improve my mind. I've always been an omnivorous reader, but I never profited much by what I waded through. Now I'm going to read systematically, and I have bought the works of Darwin, Spencer, Emerson, and all the heavy-weight writers of recent times. I'm going to devote two or three hours a day to these works, and—"

"And so I'll have to ask you not to come loafing around this hotel any more," interrupted the hotelkeeper. "A man can't read that sort of junk here. It's a hotel, and I wouldn't mind if you could read it, and keep the secret looked in your own breast, but when you have been reading Darwin two weeks you'll be all swelled up with a sense of your knowledge, and you'll be trying to convince me that I've descended from a common ancestor of alligator or something like that. Nothing has a worse effect on a man of advanced years than this thing of acquiring knowledge. He wants to go around and tell him to return at his hotel and tell him to return at his hotel."

"A man can read novels without being a bore. He's rather unimpaired by the fact that he reads such literature, and so doesn't talk about it. But just as soon as he runs up against a book containing useful information, he wants to pass that useful information along to his neighbors. He's a nuisance. If you begin reading Darwin you won't have a friend in this town in three weeks. You'll begin telling your old cronies that their grandfathers were not people who stood for old-fashioned things, even if it is founded on fact. And it's worse than that. If you begin reading Darwin, for Emerson didn't know what he was talking about, and the silly man who reads him is going to get his nose so big that he'll be in jail for it."

We want to buy your Produce, butter, Eggs, etc.

To farmers, hucksters, and people living around or on our plants, we want to say that our stores can use all of your products. If it is some person on the plant that has chickens, we will buy your eggs, or we will buy your chickens if you want to sell them. The farmer can find a market for everything he raises at our stores; his wheat or oats crop, corn crop, hay crop, potatoes, cabbage and all sorts of vegetables. We will buy your butter; your eggs, and we will buy your milk. It is a convenient, easy market for you. We will trade for your merchandise, or we will pay you the highest cash market prices. We can use all you raise; all your neighbor raises; in fact, there is not one-twentieth enough of this class of stuff raised in the coke region to supply our trade.

Colonel TODHUNTER of Missouri

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

One decisive boot sounded from the outskirts of the crowd. The speaker seemed hurt, but not surprised. "And, knowin' him," he continued, "you know as well as I do that he ain't niteen to run for office against no spotless angel."

A profound silence fell upon the assembly. Sadness rested on Colonel Todhunter's visage.

"My friends," he said, "I reckon I got to face the music and take my medicine like a man. Old Bill Strickland of Nethercomb don't seem to stack up the right way against the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey of Jackson county."

From somewhere in the heart of the crowd there came just one snort of appreciative laughter. It was quickly strangled.

"I hate to confess it," continued Colonel Todhunter, "but old Bill Strickland ain't no celestial cherub, neither, like Bedford Giles describes the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey."

An appreciative uneasiness crept into the faces of the local Yancey managers on the speaker's platform.

"Fellow citizens," spoke Colonel Todhunter, "old Bill Strickland ain't got no business setting himself up in opposition to a man who meets all the moral requirements of the heavenly seraphim, like Bedford Giles says the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey meets 'em."

In the very front rows of the crowd facing the speaker broad smiles of humorous comprehension began to be visible.

"And old Bill Strickland ain't got no business," continued Colonel Todhunter, "askin' you to give him your votes 'stead of givin' 'em to a man that'll show at the judgment bar on the last day at the brawls of Gabriel's horn, like Bedford Giles says the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey's angel to shine."

"Eyes-on-me-crow!" came a raucous cry from the crowd, and approval from somewhere in the crowd.

"A man," said Colonel Todhunter, "won't face the crowd and an angel himself without the flicker of an eyelash secure in his consciousness of his own immediate perfection."

A great underwave of laughter, held in leash, striving to and fro through the confronting assembly.

And then Colonel Todhunter rose to his full height of six feet, thrusting his right hand into the bosom of his ample skirted coat.

"My friends," he announced, "all I can say in excuse for old Bill Strickland is that he thought he was human; he ain't just a plain human body for the Democratic nomination for governor of Missouri."

Suddenly he bowed his head, threw out his hands deprecatingly and then lifted his eyes indignantly as he stood once more erect.

"Fellow Democrats," he cried, "I hereby announce the withdrawal of the Hon. William J. Strickland from this race, and I wish to state that the withdrawal is made in favor of the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey on the strength of the description of Mr. Yancey just given by Bedford Giles."

There was a moment of astonished silence.

Colonel Todhunter remained standing. Again he lifted his hand. "Provided," he said, "that Bedford Giles can furnish proof of the truth of the claims he has just made for the Hon. Stephen K. Yancey, covering the spiritual, celestial, angelic, and so forth and so forth, straight down to the garments pure as the driven snow and the mind of political chastity, and includin' the whole blessed outfit, my friends!"

A mighty roar of pent up laughter burst forth.

It was like an explosion. Men rocked to and fro on their feet in uncontrollable mirth. They smote one another on the back, shouting in gaseous chorus. In the midst of the demonstration, Bedford Giles, struck by the thunderbolt of ridicule, sprang from his seat and actually fled the scene.

Colonel Todhunter gazed after his disappearing figure in such apparent astonishment that the cyclone of laughter increased in its overwhelming volume. But the colonel stood unmoved, his face absolutely impassive.

And when the sun set on that memorable day a new record had been made in the colorful history of Missouri political campaigning. Colonel Todhunter in a five minutes speech had battered down the walls of the Yancey stronghold, until then thought to be the most impregnable in all Missouri.

CHAPTER X.

The Shame of Little-May Doggett—and One Other.

COLONEL TODHUNTER and Mrs. Todhunter were two of the great throng that attended the grand reception and ball given by the Sons of Confederate Veterans at the Ninveh hotel.

The hotel dining room, festooned in bunting for the occasion, was doing duty as a ballroom, the Nethercomb brass band was stationed upon a temporary platform at one end, and the members of the Ninveh Light Infantry, all Sons of Veterans, were there in full uniform.

Half an hour after the ball began Tom Strickland came to the colonel with a troubled face.

"Colonel," he said, "that little Lottie-May Doggett is booked for a mighty unpleasant experience in a few minutes if somebody don't give her a friendly warning."

"What's the matter with Lottie-May now, Tom?"

"Well, sir, it's pretty serious. There's an ugly story about her that's got to the ears of the ladies tonight, something scandalous, in which the name of the man doesn't seem to be known, and I've just had a tip that she's going to be asked to leave the ballroom. I'll shame her beyond redemption, sir."

"Do you know the story?"

"Only as it's being whispered around. Colonel, about some man being seen to leave her house at hours of the night or early morning that can't mean but one thing: folks are claiming, I'm afraid Lottie-May's in a bad fix the way things look."

"You ain't mixed up in this trouble, are you, Tom?"

"Only as it's being whispered around. Colonel, about some man being seen to leave her house at hours of the night or early morning that can't mean but one thing: folks are claiming, I'm afraid Lottie-May's in a bad fix the way things look."

Have Color in Your Cheeks—Be Better Looking—Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tense, faded—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod liver—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood drive you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod liver—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and excreting constitution. That's why millions of bowels are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

VOUCHED FOR BY WRIGHT-METZLER COMPANY

THIS Sweeper sent to any home on three days' free trial.

A New Shipment of DUNTLEY SWEEPERS

to replace the first lot that sold on sight. The "Duntley" is the best moderate-priced sweeper on the market today. Its main feature of goodness is a brush attachment that picks up lint, thread, pins, etc., while the powerful suction is drawing dust and disease germs from carpets and rugs. Cleaning is accomplished in one operation, while with other sweepers—brushless—threads and like things must be gathered separately. Carpet room.
